Civic League's New Platform Students on Rampage Wandering Balloon is Seen

LOST BALLOON WAS SIGHTED

Seen East of Fort William Flying North to Uninhabited Part of Country.

IT WAS SEEN JUST AT DUSK

Two Lights Swinging Back and Forth in Air Attracted Attention.

MAIL CLERK DISCOVERED

Knew It Was Missing Balloon and Called Members of Crew to See.

Fort William, Oct. 26.—The first word that has reached civilization of the balloon "America Second" was received here last night with the arrival of the westbound Montreal express, from three members of the crew on board, who positively stated that a huge balloon crossed the C. P. R. track 43 miles east of Fort William and here was the north.

Mail Clerk A. C. Guerdar, of the Imperial Limited said the balloon was first noticed at Ouintine, some forty miles east of Port Arthur, about twelve miles to the north of the track and rapidly moving toward the line of the Transcontinental, in which case the aerostat is moving further away from civilization into the heart of the bushland.

Dusk had settled over the land when the clerk noticed two lights swinging back and forth in the breeze. They were not traceable to any other cause than the presence of a balloon and he is sure of this because this country is sparsely populated and the outlines of the bag were plainly visible.

Knowing of the search for the missing balloon, he thought to gather train hands to see the lights and the balloon in order to verify his story. Those who corroborate the claim are A. C. Guerdar and H. E. Smith, messenger. No attempt was made here to find if any passengers on the train had seen the balloon.

There is no telegraph station at Ouintine, the nearest being Port Arthur on the west side and Nipigon 20 miles on the east side. No information can be had from these points.

At the rate the balloon was traveling, when seen by the mail clerk about Ouintine, it would cross the line of the National Transcontinental railway 150 miles north of the line of the north, the country along which is all wilderness. If the luckless voyagers cross this area, the regions beyond, than all hope is gone, as the country is totally uninhabited, and they must certainly perish.

FIRE HOSE IS RIOT QUELLER

Varsity Students Take Alberta

And Turn It On Invaders—One
Citizen Sent Hurry Call
To The Police.

FRESHMEN LIKE SACKS

Forced to Parade Main Street in Unconventional Outfit—
No One Hurt.

The initiation ceremonies of the students of the university caused considerable commotion in Jasper Avenue this morning. About twenty freshmen tied two and two with floor socks over their trousers, provided sport for their headless seniors who marched them up and down the main thoroughfare and then turned them loose. The freshmen were forced to parade Main Street in unconventional outfit. No one hurt.

The programme began this morning at 10 a.m. when a "bottle force" committee waited on the freshmen class, overpowered, bound and blindfolded them, proceeding then to work their will with them, as a preliminary to their admission to the status of bona fide students. A special car had been provided for the "bottle force" and under armed escort the prisoners filed to the city, took their places and were whirled down the river road and down Jasper Avenue. The ceremony of parading them before the vulgar gaze was then gone through with and concluded by leaving them in this predicament to get out as best they could. The main party then marched to Alberta College where they met with practically no resistance. They were met by a "bottle force" and were taken to the hall, invaded and broke up one class room, but were valiantly attacked by the freshmen and the result was a fire hose and beaten back. Fighting was prolonged until H. A. Law, "senior" of the University crowd, arrived on the scene and the students ceased hostilities in deference to his authority.

No damage was done, and no injuries sustained beyond a severe dose of cold from the hose water. The hose was then turned on the freshmen and the result was a fire hose and beaten back. Fighting was prolonged until H. A. Law, "senior" of the University crowd, arrived on the scene and the students ceased hostilities in deference to his authority.

DOCTOR SUED FOR $5,000

Because He Wasn't in His Office
When Called for by a Patient

Washington, Oct. 26.—Mrs. A. C. Thomas, wife of a citizen of Washington, has sued Dr. A. C. Merriam, a local physician, for $5,000. The suit is one of the most peculiar ever filed in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. The point involved being whether a physician may be held responsible for not being in his office or for failure to leave a note where he can be found.

Mr. Thomas states in his petition that Dr. Merriam was married several weeks before April 1 last that the doctor was hovering over the Thomas home, and she alleges that for that reason he should have held himself in readiness for the emergency. Despite this warning she alleges it took members of her family three hours to locate the physician, and by the time he arrived at her home the provincial bird had performed its mission and departed.

SAYS CUSHING MAY REPLY TO CHARGES

Calgary Paper Prints Story to Effect That Ex-minister of Public Works Will Talk.

WHEN LEGISLATURE SITS

Then W. H. Will Rise in His Seat and Ask if Anyone Has Any Charges.

Calgary, Oct. 26.—The Calgary News prints the following: "That W. H. Cushing, ex-minister of public works for the province, who has just returned from a trip to the States, has signified his intention of replying to the charges of graft made against him by an Edmonton daily, the contents of which have been reprinted here several times, is the report being circulated among his friends today."

It is understood that Mr. Cushing intends to rise in his seat when the house meets again in Edmonton on Thursday, and ask if any of the members have any charges to make against him, and say that if so, they can make them on the floor of the house, and he will reply to them. Mr. Cushing was overheard to say this to a friend on the street today, and subsequent investigation proved that this was the purport of his conversation.

When asked over the telephone, if he was so yesterday afternoon, Mr. Cushing said that he "had said" such things.

"Well, what do you care?" he was asked, and the ex-minister replied that the reporter of the Daily News seemed to know about it.

"Well, have you anything to say or any statement to make regarding this?" he was asked, and he answered by a very curt "No, I have not, and a slamming down of the telephone at the end of the conversation."

"I don't know any one who has said anything of the kind," he said, and he said among his friends that he will either do this or else explain the drafts and bills of exchange which he has with the steel company there."

IS HE IN THE 'PEG?

The latest information that the local police have obtained concerning Prof. Ewin S. Davies, the promoter of the great American Industrial College, who left Edmonton rather hurriedly, leaving a board bill unpaid, is that he is in Winnipeg yesterday.

John Davies was committed for trial at Wetaskiwin yesterday for threatening to commit arson.

SHIPMENT OF POULTRY

Nearly Two Thousand Pure Bred Birds on Their Way to Alberta

The shipment of pure bred poultry which was on its way from the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and the MacDonald Institute, St. Anne's, Quebec, to the Department of Agriculture for distribution among the farmers of the province, in order to encourage the raising of pure bred poultry, was yesterday added. Orders have been received in large numbers for the poultry from all over the province.

BOYS' BRIGADE BARRACKS

New Building May Be Erected Soon for Ardenchope Grey's Boys

A committee meeting of the Boys' Brigade Cadet Association was held last evening in the All Saints school room when a ways and means committee was elected consisting of Robert Frith, Mr. Chaball and Captain McLeod. This committee will look after the financing of a building programme. A site for a new building, owned by Mr. Wittenhew, George Suckling, and W. C. Watson, was proposed for a new building. Major Griesbach and Ardenchope Gray were appointed ex-officio members of both committees.

A telephone message from Calgary announces that Premier Sifton will not return to the city until Friday.

STOP EXTENDING CITY LIMITS THIS PLANK OF CIVIC LEAGUE

Executive Held Meeting Last Night at Which Work of Framing Platform for League's Civic Candidates Was Discussed.

That the future development and progress of the city depends on a compact growth, including the centralization of the commercial and industrial element, was the unanimous sentiment expressed at a meeting of the executive of the newly organized Municipal Improvement League held in Major Griesbach's office last night when a start was made in the framing of the platform for the league, on which the organization's ticket is to seek election at the forthcoming municipal election.

The main plank in the league's platform, which it is claimed will ensure such a compact growth, can be entitled the "Railway Policy" in that the elimination of the railways from their present location, and have them enter the city from the north, is the theoretical foundation. The policy includes the opening up of the Hudson Bay Reserve, and the preservation of the least expansion of the city to the east and west by recommending that no utility extensions be made to any section of the city at the same time, which warrants it and is large enough to create a reserve.

Open Up H. B. Reserve

The forcing of the opening up of the Hudson Bay Reserve, the method under consideration by the executive is to obtain power from the legislature to tax the Hudson Bay Company to a point when they would have to throw the property on the one hand, and the same time, their co-operation in the changing of the railway location, so that it is not touched last night, that matter being left over for a future meeting. Next Friday a similar meeting will be held at which the league's platform will be discussed and a report of the platform prepared for presentation to the next meeting of the league. The decision of the executive will be subject to change.

A sub-committee was appointed to draft a set of rules which will ensure the nomination of a ticket representative of the league, and the league membership, both before and after election. It is probable that candidates will be placed in the field for the majority and four of the aldermanic chairs.

No Ticket Named Yet

The framing of a ticket was not touched last night, that matter being left over for a future meeting. ALL PEN. INMATES

Inspector of Dominion Police
Started on Work at Penitentiary This Morning.

The Inspector of Dominion Police, E. Foster, with his assistant, T. E. Jones, began the work of taking the photographs and thumb prints of all the prisoners in the penitentiary this morning. Mr. Foster takes all the photographs personally and also the thumb prints, and as there are at present 160 prisoners in the penitentiary, it will take ten days or a fortnight before the work is finished. Mr. Foster is on his way back from Vancouver where he assisted the police in the Chinese immigration problem.

The Edmonton penitentiary is the last that he will visit, going from here back to Ottawa. The photographs and thumb prints are being taken for the purpose of establishing a Canadian Criminal Identification Bureau at Ottawa.

QUEENSLAND MAN HERE

W. Pagan, Chief Engineer Queensland State Railways, is here on a visit to the city.

Mr. W. Pagan, chief engineer of the Queensland State Railways, arrived in the city last night with Mr. W. C. Lett, passenger agent, and G. T. P. This morning they proceeded to the head of the steel at Edison.

The Queensland railways, Mr. Pagan said, operated 400 miles and last year paid a dividend of a per cent. Other states have no railways and one had turned over £150,000 to the general fund. When a surplus becomes available, the railways are to bring the revenue to a point where it pays 4 per cent. and expenses.

Mr. Pagan spent some time in London, before he came to Canada, studying the operation of the Tube system and the view to gaining ideas for rapid transportation in the Australian cities.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1910.

Sir Hubert Tupper has returned from the Old Country where he went to pay a visit to his father. He stated in an interview that the latter's health was remarkably good and that "he would not die while the Grits were in power in Canada." His lifelong friends will be glad to hear that the old war-horse of Cumberland is still good for so many years.

Last week's bank clearings are a fair indication of the business activity being felt all through the Edmonton district. The increase over the corresponding week of last year was 73 per cent, Regina having the next largest increase, 34, with Vancouver 32 and Calgary 32. Whereas for a long while after the establishment of the clearing house, Edmonton was seemingly hopelessly at the foot of the list, she has now passed such cities as Halifax, St. John and London and is close up to Hamilton and Quebec.

If such an October snowstorm had taken place in Alberta as that reported last week from the Western States, certain people would have had all kinds of observations to make to the detriment of our climate. All through Wyoming and Colorado snow plows have been at work on the railways. On one line, through the mountains in the former state a fall of from ten to fifteen feet took place. It is, of course, absurd to judge of the climate of these states by such an exceptional occurrence, just as it is that of any part of the world.

The business and professional men of Fort William and Port Arthur held a meeting the other day and but with one or two exceptions the opinion was unanimous that the two cities should amalgamate. Their interests are identical, just as are those of Edmonton and Strathcona. They constitute one population centre, created by exactly the same conditions. What brings about the development of the one must do the same for the other. Why, then, should they waste their substance in allowing those with whom they have to deal to play them off against each other, as has been the case for years here, Edmonton and Strathcona have not suffered in this respect to the same extent as have the cities at the head of the lakes. But they have had to stand needless cost in administration, while they have lost the advantage of the additional prestige which union must bring.

The onslaught of the Socialist party at Fernie on Nov. 7, R. Ross, the newly appointed minister of lands in the B. C. Cabinet does not appear to have met with any greater degree of success than did that on Mr. Marshall in Oils. Fernie was about as favorable a fighting ground as the Socialists could have chosen, being the recognized stronghold of their organization.

The death of David B. Hill has attracted little notice. Yet twenty years ago he was one of the leading figures in American public life. He succeeded to the governorship of New York on Grover Cleveland's acceptance in 1884, and later served two full terms in that high post, so long recognized as the stepping stone to national leadership. On his retirement he was elected to the United States Senate, remaining there six years. With the rise of Bryanism, he was one of the many Democrats who wobbled to such a serious extent that they soon passed into complete political obscurity. Those who declined to follow the new movement went into the background for the time being but their turn is now coming around once more.

What Others Say

AN EXPENSIVE MOUTHFUL.

(Ottawa Free Press.)
The Edmonton Saturday News tells of a tragedy in the vicinity of the Alberta capital. A man spent $50 in experiments on cherry trees culture with the result that his trees produced one cherry. Proud of even this result, he took the prize indoors to show to his wife, and, after they had admired it together, he laid it down on the table while he went to the phone. When he got back the cherry had gone—down the red lane of his beloved spouse, and thereafter the husband was quite wroth.

But to what better use could he have put the cherry, even if it did represent the expenditure of $50 and many sleepless hours?

A FALSE ALARM.

(Winnipeg Telegram.)

An Edmonton despatch quotes Senator Melvin Jones as declaring that if free trade relations were established with the United States many Canadian manufacturers would move their plants to Pittsburgh and Chicago and other places where they would be near the source of raw materials.

If Senator Jones really made this statement it would be interesting to have him elaborate his argument. What source of raw material is to be found in Pittsburgh or Chicago? Pittsburgh is the centre of the bituminous coal field of that section, but her great steel mills secure their raw material from a source hundreds of miles distant. Chicago is similarly situated. In the matter of cheap fuel and more extensive shipping facilities these American cities offer no decided advantage over cities like Hamilton or Toronto.

And if Canadian manufacturers remove to the United States they will compete with American manufacturers in a field already well covered. If they wish to retain their Canadian trade they will find the advantage of cheaper fuel more than counterbalanced by the cost of reaching Canadian markets.

Senator Jones regards himself as the special custodian of the interests of the farm implement manufacturers. But he does not strengthen his position by advancing any such argument as that credited to him in the Edmonton despatch.

UNIVERSITY RESIDENCES ARE POPULAR.

(From "Varsity.")

The expected has for once happened; the residences for men have become popular. While last year there remained vacancies in the buildings, this year all the rooms have already been allotted, and there is a waiting list of 25. These optimistic opinions are based on the fact that the students who have been given rooms will not be back by Oct. 10, in time to take them, when they will be thrown open to newcomers. Some may be fortunate, for there are still a few keys hanging on the rack in the office of the first clerk. The alterations made in the residences during the past summer are everywhere voted a big success. The number of single rooms has been increased by 36, making them in all 172. This was done by dividing the corner suites, consisting of a sitting room and two bedrooms into two angles.

THE LAST EXPEDIENT.

A woman at Joplin had a drunken husband and two children. For the sake of the latter she endured and suffered until her reason was affected. She had tried every plan she could think of to induce her husband to return to decency. She had worked her hands raw to get the money to buy patent nostrums to put in his coffee, and thus destroy the drink appetite. She had wrestled in prayer, she had done everything that her tortured mind could suggest, and nothing seemed to be of any use, says the Emporia Gazette.

Finally it occurred to her that if she were dead her husband might reform for the sake of the children. She reasoned that her death might be a shock to him, and would cause him to realize his responsibilities. So she wrote a little note, explaining her pitiful plan, and the note, although it consisted of only a few lines, had it all the poignant agony and tragedy of four thousand years of married womanhood.

Then she took some carbolic acid and died, and her soul is with the saints.

The newspapers told the story thus far, but have given no information as to the effects of her death upon the husband. Such information would be superfluous, however, for he probably is all against the theory that chlorophyll by the tragic lesson. He may have been reasonably sober at the funeral, but the chances are that he began to drown his sorrows immediately afterwards. A man who is well gone along the booze route like nothing better than a Great Corridor in Grief that he can display in a bar-room, and shed maudlin tears over. When things are adjusted right, a woman who is married to a chronic drunkard will be able to get relief.

applying to the courts—not the relief of having him locked up or fined, but that of having him put to work on wages, under police guardianship, his wages being turned over to her. Every city that employs laborers should have a jag brigade. Men who neglect their families should be put to work in it, at the usual wages, and not permitted to handle the money. The scheme has been advanced before but has never been given a trial, although it would mean all the difference between misery and comfort to tens of thousands of families.

TREE DISTRIBUTION.

The Demand for Government Trees Continues to Increase.

The work of free tree distribution to homesteaders on the prairies inaugurated in 1900 by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has made steady growth, and by the 1909 report of the Superintendent of Forestry (included in the annual report of the Department of the Interior, lately issued) is shown to be still on the increase. For some years past the number of trees distributed each spring has been in the neighborhood of two and a half millions. The nursery station at Indian Head, Sask., has reached almost its capacity, and if the distribution is to be enlarged the nursery capacity must be correspondingly increased.

In the spring of 1909, 2,570,000 trees were sent to 2,010 applicants. In the spring of 1910 about the same number of trees was sent to 3,173 applicants. The increase in the number of applicants is also strikingly shown by the fact that in 1908 the average number sent to each applicant was 1,400 while in 1910 the number had had to be reduced to 800. The number of trees distributed remained practically the same. The number who received trees, however, increased from 1,424 in 1908 to 3,173 in 1910. In 1909, 109, the number of new applications for trees was 2,235, in 1910 this number had increased to 3,824.

Farmers are urged to grow their own maple and ash trees from seed. Caution must, however, be exercised as to where this seed comes from, and, if possible, native seed procured. In the summer of 1908 many Manitoba maples were found to have been killed back, either wholly or partially, during the preceding winter. These had been raised from seed obtained from Dakota, and to this fact their inability to resist the winter seasons due. The Forestry Branch has previously had similar experiences with seed obtained from Minnesota and from Eastern Canada. Failure of the local supply of seed, however, occasionally makes it necessary to resort to imported seed.

Whether interesting particulars regarding this work are given in the report above mentioned, which is to be had free of charge by application to R. B. Campbell, Superintendent of Forestry, Ottawa.

HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

To Swear or Not to Swear.

A woman was called before one of the New York police courts as a witness in a petty case.

"Swear the witness," said the judge. "I don't want to," she protested. "But you must."

"Must I swear?" "Certainly," said the judge. "I don't want to delay this trial."

"Well," she said, "I'll just suppose I must—darn!"—Saturday Evening Post.

SCONA TO DISPOSE OF REFUSE ITSELF

Contract Expires Soon and Likely City Will Take Over the Work Then.

The report of the Board of Health was submitted to the Strathcona city council last evening. The recommendations were that new arrangements be made for the disposal of sewage and the refuse of the streets, of which many complaints have lately reached the council. In view of the expiration of the present garbage contract within a few weeks, it was strongly urged that steps be taken to secure the needed changes when a new contract is made.

The milk supply was also brought up in the report and it was pointed out that contrary to the by-laws a number of people living in the outskirts kept cows and supplied milk to their neighbors without taking out a license so that it is practically impossible to be sure of the conditions under which the milk is sold.

These recommendations naturally aroused a good deal of interest in view of the recent outbreak of typhoid of which they are the natural outcome.

A by-law was passed to adopt the new city seal prepared by a designer under the direction of a special committee. The design of the seal is typical of Strathcona's dignity as a university and manufacturing city. The coat of arms divided into four parts, contains an open book, a lighted lamp, a sheaf of grain, a workman's arm with a hammer. While underneath is the design, "Adieu."

Corrections were made in the assessment roll on the complaint of the interested parties. Among others the Gallagher-Hall Co's assessment was reduced from 14,000 to 4,000 feet and the Roman Catholic College requested that four of their six acres be not assessed, which was granted. There was not a great deal of business so the meeting was adjourned at an early hour.

MR. McGEORGE NOT TO BE MAYORALTY CANDIDATE

Among the names which have been prominently to the fore in connection with the mayoralty is that of James McGeorge. To a capital representative, Mr. McGeorge stated that he had definitely decided that he could not be a candidate. He appreciated very much the confidence in him that had been shown by the large number of citizens who had asked him to enter the field and would consider it a high honor to be elected to the post, but in view of the numerous other public duties that he had assumed, it was impossible for him to stand. The announcement has been received with much regret by Mr. McGeorge's friends.

NIGHTINGALE HAS A RIGHT TO SING

Highest Court of Appeals in Austria Has Decided That it is Not a Nuisance.

Vienna.—The highest court of appeal in the Austrian Empire after months of litigation has decided that the song of a nightingale is not a nuisance.

A citizen of Graz, Herr Heinzel, keeps a nightingale in a cage, and on fine nights hangs it outside the window. A neighbor complained to the police that the bird's song disturbed his slumbers, and the municipality ordered the owner of the nightingale to keep it inside the house at night. Herr Heinzel appealed against this order to the government at Styria, and then to the ministry of the interior, but both these administrative authorities refused to interfere with the decision of the municipality.

Undelayed by the costs incurred, Herr Heinzel then appealed to the court of administration, which has jurisdiction over the highest executive and administrative functionaries. Five judges, including the president, Baron Schenk, gave a learned judgment in favor of the owner of the nightingale, on grounds which amounted to saying that the song of a nightingale is a natural sound, which nobody had a right to object to, whether he liked it or not.

THILATHRES ARE O. K.

The reports of Dr. Whitelaw, medical health officer, Fire Chief Davidson and Building Inspector Cotterell on the condition of the various theatres in the city will be discussed at the meeting of the commissioners this afternoon.

Dr. Whitelaw finds that as regards ventilation, all of the theatres are in good condition. The ventilators, he says, are freely opened when the auditoriums are crowded and the fresh air the weather grows colder those dependent on side windows for ventilation are provided with a device for sacrifice proper.

For ventilation for warmth and he recommends frequent inspections by the police and health inspectors. Of the ten theatres inspected five were provided with proper sanitary conveniences. Three have not provided a water service for fire protection, but that phase is being dealt with in Chief Davidson's report. Dr. Whitelaw says that several theatres have not proper sewage connection and advises the installation of facilities.

It is understood that Chief Davidson has found nothing of a seriously dangerous nature in the construction of the theatres in regards facilities for fire protection.

Mr. Cotterell's report will not be made public until the commissioners have discussed it.

HEALTH ADVICE OF WOMAN OF NINETY

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Take a cold plunge every morning before breakfast. Eat breakfast at 6 a.m.—winter and summer. Get the "beauty sleep" at night. Distances will find early morning air far more beneficial than late afternoon.

The preceding advice on health was given yesterday, on the ninetieth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Emily Sawcize, who celebrated the occasion with a reception at her residence, 2744 Midway avenue, from 4 to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Sawcize commented on topics of public interest to a reporter. "I believe in woman's suffrage," she said. "The time has come when women need the ballot. She is going to get it, too, and I want to live long enough to cast my vote for a mayor, a governor, and the chief executive of the United States."

"Women in politics are cleaner than men, and when we have to pay taxes to own property why shouldn't we have the right to make the laws?" "I don't believe in women's clubs. Let the men have the clubs. A woman's home is club enough for her."

The president of the United States, it was learned, was the only man who had been invited to the party.

"Women in politics are cleaner than men, and when we have to pay taxes to own property why shouldn't we have the right to make the laws?" "I don't believe in women's clubs. Let the men have the clubs. A woman's home is club enough for her."

McDOUGALL MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

The subject of the weekly meeting on Tuesday was "Christianity and Socialism" introduced by Mr. Joseph Adams.

Being a representative of neither a religious or a political organization he claimed the right to speak as an impartial observer and in an informal way over thirty minutes he endeavored to outline the position of both sides.

His address did not tend to widen the gap which appears to exist among certain sections of the socialist party and the church. He emphasized the points on which they agreed rather than on which they differed.

In the ensuing discussion Mr. Hinchey stated the position of the churches of the present day regarding social questions and showed clearly that the grievances of some sections of the socialists against the churches have no foundation in fact. Every one who heard the speaker was struck by the consideration of his time to the study of social questions. "The time has come when he must, his position demands it."

A lively discussion followed in which the churches and the socialists alike parted under considerable criticism. The criticism of women was much commented on and Mr. Adams, in his reply, showed that real socialism entirely repudiated any doctrine which would lessen the respect due her.

A QUEEN WHOSE LIFE IS NOW A SAD ONE.

Paris.—It was a pitiful little figure which emerged from a train from the south at the d'Orsay station. It was the Queen Annalida, who had been in Madagascar—before the French took charge down there and turned her out in the cold.

She had come from Algiers—another French dependency—where she is compelled to live now, the French government, for state reasons, refusing to permit her to return to her own home. King Alfonso had previously been to Paris, and he had been with enthusiasm. The President of Brazil had been loudly admiring, a red carpet was spread for him at the station. But not even an under-secretary from the foreign office met the little ex-queen as she alighted and looked up and down the platform, mystified and wondering which way to turn.

She seemed a bit sad, but resigned and patient. It looks like France, the so-called land of gallantry, might have done better than that. The foreign office might at least have tipped a Cook's interpreter to show her which way out.

After a stay at Baule, a French watering place of modest pretensions, the queen will journey incognito, naturally, back to Algiers.

SIR ALFRED DRAWS SOME CONCLUSIONS

Sir Alfred Morda Says Not One Newspaper in West Seeks High Tariff.

THE ENGLISH VIEW OF IT

Widespread Fear in Canada That Washington Will Get Best of Negotiations.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 26.—Sir Alfred Morda, M.P., in an interview on his return from his trip to Canada, said that there was not a single newspaper west of Winnipeg that was not pressing in the direction of tariff reduction. Free trade sentiment was predominant in the present Dominion Cabinet. There was only one protectionist in the Cabinet. The other ministers were free-traders although they did not see their way to apply the full free trade conditions. Their immediate position was "concerned" with reciprocity with the United States, and this was one of the principal topics of discussion in the Dominion. The Canadian government was in real earnest in its desire for reciprocity. Sir Alfred found in some quarters, however, a strange lack of confidence in the business ability of the government to make a satisfactory deal with the United States. The fear that Canada would get the worst of the bargain as had happened before in dealings with Washington, seemed to be widespread.

THE GOING OF CANAAN

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "Cherry," "Monsieur Beaucaire," Etc.

(COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY HARPER & BROTHERS)

"Do you remember me, Miss Talbot?" said Eugene in a deep and persuasive voice, lifting his hat. "We were neighbors, I believe, in the old days."

He gave him her hand in a fashion somewhat mannerly, favoring him with a bright, negligent smile. "Oh, yes," she answered, turning again to Joe as she entered the gate. "Then I shall expect you."

"Will you?" said he. "I'll try."

He stumbled away, respectfully and the other together interlarded with the comfort of Mr. Pilcrow, who had stopped in the middle of the pavement to stare glumly at Ariel. Eugene accompanied the latter into the house, and Joe, looking back, under stood, Marnie had sent his stepfather to bring Ariel in—and to keep him from following.

"This afternoon," The thought took away his breath, and he became pale.

CHAPTER XII.

MARNIE, waiting just inside the door as Ariel and Eugene entered, gave the visitor a pale greeting and a moment later, seeing the wheels of the carriage drive through the gravel of the carriage-drive, hurried away down the broad hall and disappeared. Ariel dropped her parasol upon a marble topped table near the door and, removing her gloves, drifted into a room at the left, where a grand piano found shelter beneath crimson plush. After a moment of contemplation she pushed back the coverlet and, seating herself upon the plush covered piano stool (to match), let her fingers run up and down the keyboard once and felt listlessly in her lap as she gazed with deep interest at three life sized colored photographs in carved gilt frames upon the wall she was facing—Judge Pike, Marnie and Mrs. Pike, with her babies.

"These don't stop playing, Miss Talbot," said a voice behind her. She had not observed that Eugene had followed her into the room.

"Very well, if you like," she answered, looking up to smile absently at him, and she began to play a rhapsodic air which, composed by some rattle-brained at a cafe table, had lately slipped out of the Moulin Rouge to disport itself over Paris. She played it slowly in the minor, with elish pathos, while he leaned upon the piano, his eyes fixed upon her fingers, which wore few rings—none, he observed with an unmeasured pleasure, upon the third finger of the left hand.

"It's one of those simpler Greg things, isn't it?" he said, sighing longingly. "I care for Greg."

"Would you mind its being Canadian?" she returned, dropping her eyes to look at the sin.

"Ah, no! I recognize it now," replied Eugene. "He appears to me even more than Greg."

At this she glanced quickly up at him, but more quickly down again, and hastened the time emphatically, swinging the little air into the major.

"Do you play 'The Filigree's' Chords?" she asked.

"She shook her head.

"Vans name was Wagner?" inquired Eugene, leaning toward her.

"Oh, yes," she answered, bowing her head far over so that her face was concealed from him, except the chin, which, he saw with a thrill of inexplicable emotion, was trembling slightly.

There were some small white flowers upon her hat, and these shook too. When she turned to him he was surprised to see that she looked astonishingly happy, almost as if she had been struggling with joy instead of pain.

"This chair," she said, sinking into it, "makes me feel at home."

Naturally he could not understand. "Because," she explained, "I once thought I was going to live in it. It was being reupholstered, but I should know if I met it anywhere in the world."

"How very odd!" exclaimed Eugene, staring.

"I settled here in pioneer days," she went on, tapping her finger upon the seat of the chair. "It was the last dance I went to in Canada."

she exclaimed, "I don't want you to think I'm a tale bearer!"

"Oh, my dear!" Ariel said, with a gesture of deprecation.

"No," Miss Pike went on, all in one breath, "but I am afraid you will think it, because papa knows, and he wants to see you."

"What is it that he knows?"

"That you were walking with Joseph Louder!" (This was as if she had said, "that you poisoned your mother.")

"I didn't tell him, but when he saw you with him I was troubled and asked Eugene what I'd better do, and he always knows what is best."

"It's one of those simpler Greg things, isn't it?" he said.

(Mr. Talbot's expression, despite this brutality, was not happy.) "And he advised me to tell mamma about it and leave it in her hands. But she always tells papa everything."

"Certainly," that was understood," said Ariel slowly, turning to smile at Eugene.

The daughter of the house exhibited signs of consternation. "He wants to see you," she repeated falteringly. "He's in the library."

Having thus discharged her errand, she hastened to the front door, and out she went, evidently with the intention of removing herself as soon and as far as possible from the vicinity of the library.

Eugene, visibly perturbed, followed her to the doorway of the room and paused.

"Do you know the way?" he inquired, with a note of solemnity.

"Where?" Ariel had not risen.

"To the library."

"Of course," she said, beaming upon him. "I was about to ask you if you would not speak to the judge for me. This is such a comfortable old friend, isn't it?"

"Speak to him for you?" repeated the nonplussed Eugene.

She nodded cheerfully. "If I may trouble you. Tell him, certainly I shall be glad to see him."

Eugene went. There was nothing else to do. And he wished with every step that the distance to the parlour of the library might have been greater.

In whatever guise he delivered the summons, it was perfectly efficacious. A door slammed, a heavy and rapid tread was heard in the hall, and Ariel, without otherwise moving, turned her head and offered a brilliant smile of greeting.

"It was good of you," she said as the doorway filled with red, imperial wrath, to wish to have a little chat with me. I'm anxious, of course, to go over my affairs with you, and last night after my journey I was too tired. But now we might begin, not in detail, of course, just yet. That will do for later when I've learned more about business."

"The great one had stopped on the threshold."

"Madam," he began coldly, "when I say my library I mean my—"

"Oh, yes," she interrupted, with amiable weariness. "I know. You mean you keep all the papers and books of the estate in there, but I think we'd better put them off for a few days."

"I'm not talking about the estate," she exclaimed. "What I want to talk to you about is being seen with Joseph Louder!"

CANADA'S TARIFF STIRS UNCLE SAM

Taft Will Urge Reciprocity Treaty With Dominion of the Broadest Kind.

WILLING ACROSS BORDER

Success is Expected to Minimize Feeling Against the Aldrich Law.

The staff correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, stationed at Washington, sends the following special article to his paper, setting forth very clearly the feeling in the United States' capital toward reciprocity negotiations with Canada, and giving the States' view of Canada's attitude in the matter.

Washington, D. C.—If the administration intend to induce the Canadian government to see the advantage of such action, a treaty will be submitted to Congress at the coming session providing for a substantial reduction in tariff rates upon products exchanged by the two countries.

The state department has received for notification that Canada will enter into negotiations for a reciprocity agreement, and the first step toward the achievement of this purpose will be taken in a few days.

There was a conference at the White House yesterday afternoon between the president, Secretary Taft, and Charles M. Pepper, the special brief expert of the state department, at which was outlined the policy this government will pursue.

Broadest Kind of Reciprocity. It is the understanding that the broadest kind of a reciprocity treaty will be arranged of Canada will comply with the wishes of this government, and the trade relations of the two countries will be placed upon a sound basis of mutual advantage.

While the tariff is not a purely commercial and political matter, all it is expected to have a great deal to do with the feeling in the states along the northern border against the Aldrich tariff law.

In return for the extension of the minimum tariff on Canadian products last March the dominion reduced the rates applied to certain goods imported from America. For these items the rates of the so-called "intermediate" schedule had been restricted to the products of a few countries, were made general in their application.

The "intermediate tariff" consists of a schedule of duties lower than the general tariff but higher than the preferential rates accorded to the United Kingdom and reciprocating British colonies. It was put in effect in 1906, and has been granted in France by a treaty between the two countries.

Other Nations Included. Following the concession to France, the treatment was accorded to Argentina, Austria-Hungary, Bolivia, Colombia, Cuba, Denmark, Japan, Norway, Russia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and Venezuela. The United States naturally suffered from this situation, but received a part of its lost ground by negotiations following the enactment of the maximum and minimum feature of the Aldrich law.

Canada then applied the "intermediate tariff" to a number of products, including certain dried fruits, nuts, photographs, engravings, soap, soap powders, pottery, fabric ware, window glass, watch actions and movements, leather, leather goods, cutlery, sausage casings, manganese, caustic soda, mineral waters, etc.

It is estimated that more than one hundred and fifty thousand manufacturers of articles in which American farmers and manufacturers are interested, and these are interested in the administration to cover in the negotiations about to be actively begun.

Canada is not approaching the negotiations with the same eagerness as this country. Her people do not realize to the same extent the need of reciprocity with America as we do.

Canada is Less Eager. There was a time when the Canadian government would have been glad to enter into a trade treaty with us. A decade ago they made frequent representations with this end in view, but they fell on deaf ears because American sentiment did not approve of anything of the kind.

In the meantime the dominion has been developing by leaps and bounds. It is now a great manufacturing country, and it is true American manufactured goods are sold more largely in the dominion than those of any other country. In a list of about forty of the value of goods and manufactures of Canada during the last fiscal year, the whole amounted to more than $200,000,000. The United States exports to Canada valued at $1,000,000,000, against $75,000,000 for the United Kingdom.

Included in this list were cotton, linen, jute, and wool manufactures from the United Kingdom to the value of $35,000,000. Canada received $35,000,000 worth of these products last year, of which $40,000,000 came from American mills.

As an indication of the growth of Canadian trade is growing a comparison made in a recent report is interesting. In 1909 the total value of Canadian imports was $59,820,557, and in 1910 $125,253,660, an increase of $75,727,703. In 1909 the total value of Canadian exports was $50,511,129, and in 1910 $104,358,359, an increase of $53,847,230.

The imports and exports of the dominion from and to the United States for the year ending March 31 last, as compared with the preceding year, were as follows: Imports, $23,501,809, an increase of $14,745,529; exports, $13,130,779, an increase of $20,000,000.

dominion from and to the United States for the year ending March 31 last, as compared with the preceding year, were as follows: Imports, $23,501,809, an increase of $14,745,529; exports, $13,130,779, an increase of $20,000,000.

Congress May Be Stubborn. It is realized by the administration that it will be extremely difficult to get Congress to ratify whatever kind of a treaty may be submitted by the president. Under the precedent established in the case of the reciprocity treaty with Cuba, it will be necessary to submit the Canadian convention to the house.

Inquestionably for political effect the Democrats, and some of the insurgents will seek to tackle various amendments to the Aldrich law upon the Canadian convention and it will be difficult to defeat them in view of the lack of control which the old organization now has upon the members.

It is conceded, however, that in the end the treaty will be ratified, since the country is expected to give unmistakable evidence at the elections on November 8 of its dissatisfaction with the Aldrich law, and every congressman naturally will be glad to go on record as favoring a reduction, even though provided in a treaty for reciprocity.

So far as the senate is concerned, it is believed that the body will ratify the ratification without serious attempt at amendments.

URGES STUDY OF NUDE FORM.

Chicago Woman Tells Michigan Federation of Clubs Ch. Beauty Should Be Taught Body's Beauty.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 27.—While the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Washington today was condemning Mrs. Albert C. Barney's nude statue of "Deserted Artiste" and opposing the making of such statues, the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs was applauding the suggestion of Mrs. John B. Sherwood of Chicago that the study of the nude human form be encouraged.

There is no more noble or pure set of men than artists as a whole," said Mrs. Sherwood. She prophesied that the middle west with Chicago as a center, would be the art center of America.

"The art of the twentieth century will be American," she concluded. Already the American landscape artists are the greatest in the world."

STATE SUES TOBACCO TRUST.

Kentucky Alleges American Company Misrepresented in Report and Cut Down Franchise Tax.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 27.—Suit was filed here today by the state revenue agent against the American Tobacco company for the corporation franchise tax for the last five years. It is alleged the company misrepresented facts in its annual reports to the state auditor.

The company, it is alleged, reported $18,000,000 in issued capital stock, when its authorized capital stock is $10,000,000.

Upon this difference of $8,000,000 the suit is brought for taxes.

CAFES SERVE "HOP SANDWICH" IN THE WEST SIDE LEVEE

Opium "Smokers" Given "Meal" — One Proprietor Arrested After Treating Victim of Drug Habit.

Chicago.—The "hop sandwich" made its appearance in the west side "levee" district a few days ago and was quite popular with the opium smokers until the police raided one of the Chinese cafes that did a large business in the "hop sandwich" and practically put a stop to the sale of them.

The "sandwiches" are two slices of bread with opium placed between them. A call at some of the cafes for a "hop sandwich" and the proprietor would place a slice of bread with opium on it and hand it to the customer.

The proprietor, Chin Lung, handed her two slices of bread, with a small amount of opium spread between them. The detective grabbed the sandwich and then arrested Ling.

PROPOSES 43 TIMES A DAY

Every Young Woman Who is Asked to Become Wife of College Youth Declines

Minneapolis, Minn.—Marriage is not popular among the young women of Minnesota university's College of Agriculture, in the opinion of Herman Brown. He proposed marriage to twenty-three young women in one day and received twenty-three refusals.

His early proposals, Brown admits, were crude, but faculty came with practice. Whereas, five young women to whom he proposed, believing noon lunch at him, not one laughed after the noon hour.

Fifteen of the twenty-three were sympathetic in their refusals and six offered to regard him with sisterly affection. Two said they thought he must be crazy, and one crinkled asked if he were proposing on a bet. The proposals were made as a condition precedent to the admission of the young man into the Agricultural club.

HORSE IDENTIFIES ITS OWNER

Romeo Offers Friendly Hoof to Kansas City Man in Token of Recognition.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 27.—When Romeo, a truck horse which was stolen from Elgin Starke here was approached by his owner in Omaha, the animal immediately recognized him. The horse stood on its hind legs, grasped both his stall, and, finally, extended the right hand of fellowship—its right forefoot—to its owner.

That was all that was necessary; the police gave Mr. Starke his horse. The animal was found in Omaha in the possession of Charles R. Heath. He was arrested.

POLICE GUARDED FRUIT.
 Owing to the watchful eye of the police the proprietor of the C. N. R. fruit store was prevented from losing three boxes of grapes and a case of what looked to be oranges.

Last night, it seems, the store was closed and the grapes left outside, which were luckily noticed by the police and taken to the station.

ST. GEORGE'S DINNER.

The St. George's Football club held their annual dinner last evening at Lewis' Cafe. Mr. H. R. Mountfield took the chair. Everyone was in high praise of the evening of Host Lewis, and the menu was a first class one.

After the dinner the chairman proposed the toast of The King, which was responded to with musical honors.

Mr. Arthur Ray opened with a piano solo and the popular old country air won for him a well-deserved encore.

The chairman then called upon Mr. Travis Barker to present the shield given by the Edmonton and District United Aids, which had been won by the St. George's Football club. The shield was one of the finest pieces of work that has ever been seen in Edmonton and was the work of Jackson Bros. the jewellers.

Mr. Barker in handing the shield to the captain of the football club said it gave him the greatest of pleasure to award the prize to the St. George's boys who have played a straight game all through and he wished them every success in the future.

Mr. Greva suitably responded for the members of the club.

Mr. Travis Barker then presented the medals to each of the men who took part in the final game. The medals were of gold and as late as Saturday last were in their rough state. Mr. G. F. Watcher was responsible for these medals, of which the owners can be justly proud.

Commemorative medals were also awarded to the members of the team that played in the instructional game between England and Scotland at Strathcona on July 1st.

Mr. W. D. Turner proposed the toast of the army and navy. He had seen active service in army and mentioned that he never wished to meet a doctor lot of fellows than those in the Canadian militia who he met out at the Cape.

Capt. Miller of the R.N.W.M.P. was asked to respond in the absence of Col. Hopkins. Mr. L. R. Farquharson then gave a couple of humorous songs which went down well. Mr. Greva in toast of the St. George's football club a few choice words proposed the club. Mr. Thomas responded and gave a short history of the club.

In the absence of Mr. Griffiths, another humorous song was given by Mr. L. R. Farquharson. The United Aids last toastably proposed by Mr. Hinson, responded to by Mr. Travis Barker.

Mr. Harvey followed with a song at the piano. Mr. Atkinson was then called upon to make a speech. He had acted as referee in many of the games in which the St. George's club had taken part, and said he would much like to see the English game of rugby played in Edmonton. Mr. Glass also spoke on the same subject. Mr. Ray's little anecdote tickled the fancy of all present. He is a great entertainer. Mr. Atkinson's recitation was well received.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. H. R. Mountfield for taking the chair and a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by singing the national anthem.
